Second Sunday of Lent St. Patrick's Day

From: Fr. Tony Hesse: This past couple of weeks, I was blessed to work my schedule so that I could make it to a couple playoff games. Not only do I love showing support to our young athletes, but I also like watching sports as well. As I mentioned before, if you would like me to come to any of your games or your children's games (assuming it works with my schedule), please give me a schedule. However, speaking of games, soon it will be March Madness for college basketball (I even got on one of the pools). Many people gather together and predict what teams will be where in the NCAA college basketball tournament. It is a fun time of guessing what teams will win and lose, and like me, not even coming close in getting it right. Sadly, our lives are the same. We hope, pray, and try to live good lives but we do not come close, we do not get it right. We fail and fall into sin. However, that is where God comes into the picture. No matter what we do wrong, God always wants to forgive our sins and show us His love and mercy. All we have to do is to come and confess our failings to Him. He will do the rest. Therefore, I encourage us and pray that we will use this Lenten season to grow in his love and to start over with His mercy, and that we will come to Him in the sacrament of reconciliation. I guarantee, we will always come out as winners in the end.
